THE Volume here presented to the Publick is to be considered as the First of a Series of The Statutes of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. It contains the Acts passed in the First and Second Sessions of the First Parliament, and in the First Session of the Second Parliament, of the United Kingdom; in the 41st, 42d, and 43d Years of the Reign of His Majesty King George the Third. The Union took place on the first Day of January 1801, pursuant to the British Statute 39, 40 G. 3. c. 67. and the Irish Statute 40 G. 3. c. 38. which are precisely similar to each other. The First Session of the First Parliament commenced on the 22d Day of January, 41 G. 3. A. D. 1801. The Statutes of that Session are distinguished in Citation (by the Letters U. K.) from those of the last Parliament of Great Britain, which were also passed in the 41st Year of the King.

This Volume is likewise to be considered with reference to an intended Publication of the preceding Statutes (from Magna Charta down to the Union of Great Britain and Ireland), now preparing for the Press by the same Editor. It seems necessary, therefore, not only to explain the Principles by which the Collection has been regulated in the present instance, but also to advert, as well retrospectively as prospectively, to those other Parts which will hereafter unite themselves to this, towards the forming a progressive and uniform Edition of the Statutes of the Kingdom.

THE Foundations of our History, Ecclesiastical and Civil, can be discovered with certainty only in our Records; in the antiquity and abundance of which, it is confessed, we excel all the Nations of Europe. Of Records, none can be more important or authentic than those which contain the written Laws, the express Rules of Action, in the infinitely varying occurrences of human life, arising in a Country which has arrived at a height of Civilization, Opulence, and Power, unequalled in the History of the World.

THESE Laws, the result of the combined exertions of the Representatives of the People, and the grand Hierarchical Council of the Monarch, in Parliament, contain in them the undoubted evidence of the progressive state of the Country in Religion and Politics, in Arms and Arts, in all that preserves and adorns civilized Society; in all that renders life valuable, and distinguishes Man from the beasts that perish.

THE attention paid by his present Majesty to the wishes of some of his most enlightened Subjects has been eminently displayed by the Commission granted, in the Year 1800, for the purpose of examining and arranging the publick Records of the Kingdom. Some important steps, it is known, have already been taken in consequence of that Commission; and doubtless the full effect of the exertions of the Commissioners will in due time appear before the Publick.

WITH respect to the Statutes of the Kingdom, the Country has long been in possession of printed Sources, from which Collections have been made as from undoubted and authentic Materials.

It appears that the Publication of the Statutes in England has, almost ever since the introduction of Printing, been made by the King's Printer, under Authority from the Crown; express or implied. The first Statutes, printed immediately on their passing, were those of Richard III. and they have been continued by Sessions to the present time. What degree of authenticity, however, was attached to such Sessional Publications was (until lately) problematical. By Cap. 90. of 41 G. 3. (U.K.) § 9. it is now enacted, That for the better and more effectual proof of the Statute Law of Great Britain and Ireland respectively, previous to the Union of the said Kingdoms, the Copy of the Statutes of England, (and of Great Britain since the Union with Scotland;) printed and published by the Printer duly authorized to print and publish the same by His Majesty or by any of his Royal Predecessors', shall be received in the Courts of Ireland as conclusive Evidence of the English or British Statutes made prior to the Union of Great Britain and Ireland; and in like manner, the Irish Statutes so printed and published shall be conclusive Evidence, in the British Courts, of Irish Statutes, passed previous to the Union.

In Ireland, similar Sessional Publications have from time to time taken place. An Edition of all the Statutes at Large passed in that Kingdom is printed by the King's Printer, and is stated in the Title-page to be "Published by Authority." It appears by the Preface that it was so printed in consequence of an Address, in 1752, by the House of Lords, and under the inspection of the Lord Chancellor and Judges there.

In Scotland, Sessional Publications of the Statutes of that Kingdom, previous to the Union with England, appear authenticated by the Clerk-Register, as extracted from the Records of Parliament. Repeated instances also occur of Acts of the Parliament of Scotland requiring and authorizing the Publication of such Acts as concern the Common Weal. Collections of Acts were from time to time made by Authority; and a general Collection of the Scottish Acts from James I. of Scotland to Charles II. was published "by His Majesty's special Warrant," in the time of the last-mentioned Monarch.

<sup>1</sup> This is to be understood as applying only to the Folio Publications of the Acts at large by the King's Printer, usually called the Black-Letter Acts; not to general Collections by private Editors, although printed by the King's Printer; as these are not published by Authority.

P R E F A C E.

In consequence of the very able Reports made in the Year 1796 to the British House of Commons, by the Commissions on Temporary Laws and on the Promulgation of the Statutes, many material Improvements have been made, as well before as since the Union with Ireland, in the Clasing and Distribution of the Statutes by the King's Printer. The Publick feel assured that the Sagacity and Diligence which has already suggested and performed so much on this subject will not stop until the System shall have received all the Improvement of which it is susceptible.

CLAIMING Indulgence for the foregoing general Observations, the mode adopted in the present Volume shall now be stated. Like all preceding Editions of the Statutes which have been given to the Publick by a private Editor, it is founded on the Collections of Acts printed by the King's Printer, and distributed by him under the Authority of Parliament. Of the progress and contents of such original Collections it may not be wholly irrelevant to enter into some more extensive details.

It has been already observed, that the first Statutes printed immediately on their passing were those of Richard III. They were published A. D. 1483, by Caxton; and Copies of his Edition of the Acts of that Reign, in the French Language, still remain extant. This may, it is believed, with truth be considered as the first Sessional Publication. A Volume of the Statutes from 1 Edward III. to 22 Edward IV. was printed nearly at the same time, but probably rather after than before the thin Folio or Volume containing the Statutes of Richard III.* A Collection, printed by Lettes and Maché, was the only Publication respecting the Statutes previous to those already mentioned † it is usually supposed to have been printed before 1481. It contains an Abridgement of the Statutes down to 33 Henry VI. A. D. 1452. From the time of Richard III. to the present, the Statutes have been printed by the King's Printer at the end of each Session.

THE distinction between Publick and Private Acts is not applied in Collections of the English Statutes at Large (as they are called), to any Statutes previous to those of Richard III. From that period only does such distinction commence, in the several Tables prefixed to the respective Collections; yet it is certain that many Statutes were passed in the Reign of King Edward IV. and several preceding Reigns, of the same nature as those classed in the list of Private Acts of Richard III. and in the subsequent Reigns. The distinction has not only produced much discussion, uncertainty, and inconsistency, but has, it may be asserted, given rise to erroneous conjectures respecting the origin of these private or particular Acts, which fuller information may tend to correct.

* The Volume of the Statutes from 1 Ed. 3. to 22 Ed. 4. was reprinted by Pyper about the Year 1495, with the addition of the Statutes 1 to 12 R. 7. In both these Editions the Statutes of Ed. 3. are in French, from Caeser's Text. Caxton was Printer to Ed. 4. Ed. 3. and Ed. 5. and Pyper to Ed. 7. and Ed. 8. Strickland succeeded as Printer to the latter Monarch.

BEFORE the introduction of Printing, the Statutes were promulgated by Proclamation in the several Counties in consequence of Writs sent to the Sheriff, with Exemplifications of the Statutes to be proclaimed. The mode of Promulgation by Printing was found to be so much more convenient and extensive, that the former mode of Promulgation by Writ to the Sheriff very soon fell into disuse. What Statutes precisely were included in such Promulgation by Writ, and what omitted, it is not very easy now to determine: but we are well assured that all Acts passed in every Parliament were not thus promulgated, very many Acts being to be found in the Volumes of the Parliament Rolls, printed by order of Government, which have never yet appeared, or been noticed, in any of our printed Statute Books, and probably, therefore, were never entered on the Statute Roll. It may be safely concluded, that all such Acts as were proclaimed were, in the broad sense of the word, Public Acts, and were such of which the Judges were bound to take notice judicially, without their being specially pleaded. The other Acts not so promulgated have by usage acquired the term of Private Acts (though this may be thought a legal solecism), and were such as the Judges were not bound to take notice of, unless specially pleaded.

AT THE introduction of Printing, a distinction took place, (more easily defined at least, if not more precise in legal signification,) namely, between Acts printed and Acts not printed. Among the former were all such as, having passed previous to Richard III. and having been within general knowledge, or contained in Manuscript Collections, made before that time for the use of the Judges or for private information, were afterwards printed for the purpose of more extensive circulation:—and also all such Acts as, having passed in or after the Reign of Richard III. were contained in the Sessional Publications already alluded to.

THESE Sessional Publications were at first entirely confined to such Acts as concerned the Public Weal; in no instance containing all the Acts which passed in any Session of Parliament: which appears manifest from the Titles of the several Collections, but still more by comparing them with the printed Parliament Rolls already referred to. This course continued until the 13th of Queen Elizabeth (A. D. 1571). At the end of the Publication of the Acts of that Session, first appeared “A Table of certain Acts passed” and not printed;” and a like Table continued to be published in subsequent Sessions uninterruptedly, until the 7 Jac. I. and probably much later. In what Year the List of “Acts not printed” was changed to a List of “Private Acts,” is not at present exactly known. In the Reigns of Charles II.* and James II. sometimes the one mode of expression was used and sometimes the other; and it seems that the distinction of the Acts, into Public and Private was not uniformly made before the reign of William and Mary.

* See post No. (6).

THE Translations, and general Collections, published in the 16th and 17th centuries by Ryhall, Barker, Pulton, Kitch, and others, all proceeded on the foundation of former printed Editions and the Sessional Publications by the King's Printer, without any lists or notices of such Acts as had never been printed. Nor was it until about the commencement of the 18th Century, that a Table or List of these latter was introduced under the title of Private Acts in the beginning of the several Volumes of the Collections of the Statutes at large; which method was adopted by Newson, Coy, and all subsequent Editors.

THE conclusion which it seems may be justly drawn from a view of the circumstances before stated, as they appear on the successive Editions of our Statutes, is,—that Public Acts, or Acts 'semper publicæ naturæ,' were at first proclaimed by the Sheriff. That on the Introduction of Printing such Acts were printed; and that the fact of Proclamation or Printing rendered them Publick Acts; all Acts not so proclaimed or printed, being in common parlance Private Acts. In process of time the Rule was reversed; and as in former times an Act was publick because it was printed, in more modern times an Act was not printed unless it was publick: so that the application of the criterion was changed, and the Act was printed, not to make it publick, but because it was considered by the King's Printer, or those under whose control he acted, as of a publick nature.

PERHAPS this suggestion will in some measure account for the difficulty which has so frequently occurred in the attempt to make an accurate distinction between Publick and Private Acts, and may be further elucidated by the following Observations.

IN the Collection of printed Acts and Acts considered as publick, many have been inserted which are merely local or personal; and in the List of what were (with apparent impropriety) classed in the Table of Private Acts, some few were contained of a most important publick nature and consequence. The manner in which this irregularity arose and increased, and how far it has of late been attempted to be remedied, is matter of interest to the systematick Reader.

THE Sessional Publications, we have seen, were originally confined to Acts manifestly publick; but the progress of Knowledge and Commerce soon produced many Acts which, though confined as to the circle in which they operated, were very naturally and at first wisely considered in their purport as of a publick nature; and were therefore included in such Ryhall's Collection (or Abridgment), as published in 1557 (and afterwards in 1559 and 1565) contained all the Acts to the end of Ed. 3. in their original language. The other Collections, mentioned in the Text, consisted only of Translations of the Acts at length. In subsequent Editions of Ryhall's Collection, the old Acts were translated.

* The very first Act which occurs in the List of Private Acts, 1 Ed. 3. is the Tithe Exemption, the Title or Allegiance of King Richard's Right to the Crown. The Acts for acknowledging the Title of King Henry VII. on his Accession, and for repealing the Act of Ed. 3. (see printed Rolls of Parliament, vol. vi. p. 270. and 285.) have never appeared in any Edition of our Statute Book. The former is not even mentioned in the Table of Acts, 1 Ed. 7. and the latter in the List of Private Acts, (No. 15.) only by the words, Abolita Anno, 27.

Sessional Collections of Publick Acts. The number of local Acts thus admitted continued to increase from time to time, and such Acts as were merely personal were by like degrees excluded from these Collections, and noticed only in the list of Acts not printed. The first symptom of legislative notice on the subject of distinguishing Local Acts from those of a more general tendency, appears in the 23d Elix. In the 'Table of Acts not printed' at the end of that Session, the first Act noticed is "For the Imning of Ericke and Phoyghed " Maryh." And in the margin is a Note, 'This Act by special Sedit is also printed.' It appears as Cap. 13. of the Publick Acts of that Session, but without any particular Clause for declaring it publick.

THE next step towards giving such Local Acts the advantages of general Acts seems to have been by extending to them the benefit of pleading the general Issue. From the title of the Act 1 Jac. 1. c. 23. "For the better Preservation of Fishing in the " Counties of Somerset, Devon, and Cornwall, and for the Relief of Balkers, Condors, and " Fisheremen against malicious Suits," and from the Preamble, which contains a long recital of the mischief to be remedied, we may conclude that the attention of the Legislature had been called to the distinction between Publick and Private Acts by some proceedings at Law, relating from the maxim that the latter must be specially pleaded. By this Act the Defendant is enabled to plead the general Issue, Not Guilty, in answer to any Action for matters done under the Act.

THIS Clause is frequently repeated in Acts of a similar nature passed during the Reign of the Stuarts, and the Republican Usurpation. The mode of its introduction and continuance in these Local Acts may suggest a question as to the propriety of its insertion in Publick Acts. It appears to have been designed for the protection of Defendants, under Acts which might otherwise not have been considered as publick; and was intended to place those Acts on the same footing, and to give them the same advantages as Acts of a more general and undoubted publick nature.

DURING the Usurpation frequent Instances occur of Clauses annexed to Acts and Ordinances, requiring that they should be 'forthwith printed and published, that all persons concerned may take notice.' And this Clause is found as well at the end of some Acts of a general nature, as of others the subject of which is confined.

* In the 13th of Car. 2. (c. 7.) is "An Act for conferring publick Acts," by which certain Acts of 12 Car. 2. relating to the Privileges and Rescues of the Crown, are revised and confirmed. By Cap. 11. of the same Session, two other Acts relating to the Crown, and the Act 12 Car. 2. c. 33. relating to Marriages being the Uxoribus, are confirmed. And by Cap. 14. of the same Session, 13 Car. 2. for conferring the Marriages Act (12 Car. 2. c. 18.), "and several other Acts both publick and private," several Acts of the 13th of publick Acts, 12 Car. 2. are confirmed, as also the private Act (c. 12.) for the Habitants' Company. The Publick Acts of 12 Car. 2. as thus confirmed, are Cap. 1. for removing Deputies as to that Parliament.—Cap. 3. for the Continuance of Judicial Proceedings.—Cap. 5. for referring the Marriage of Dowry—Cap. 16. for disbanding Soldiers—Cap. 17. for refusing Murders—Cap. 30. for continuing Leases of Colleges—and Cap. 43. for General Courts Petiti.

P R E F A C E.

It was not until towards the commencement of the Reign of William III. that a publick Clause was introduced for declaring publick Acts, the nature or subject of which related to certain Places or Individuals, or respecting which any Doubts might be entertained how far they were to be considered as publick or general.

THE first Clause of this kind which (after repeated search) has occurred to the Editor is in the Act 2 W. & M. ſic 1. c. 8. for reversing the Judgement in Que Warrant against the City of London. It was probably inferred in that Act on very serious Advice; as all events pro reipſa Caute. The terms of this Clause (§ 17. of the Act), and of another for the Relief of the Orphans of London, 5 W. & M. c. 10. § 31. shew the consideration used on that subject; and the words are in part similar to those introduced pursuant to the Resolution of the Houses of Lords and Commons in the Section 43 Gen. III. noticed hereafter.

FROM the beginning of the Reign of William III. to the end of that of Queen Anne, several Acts for local purposes are to be found in the body of the Publick Acts, with a general publick Clause annexed; yet in the course of that period many Acts, of a nature precisely similar with those containing this publick Clause, are admitted in the same Series of Acts, without such a Clause, though generally with the Clause giving the benefit of pleading the general Issue; and in several Instances these two Clauses appear united in one. It is to be observed also, that during this period many Local Acts are contained in the list of Private Acts; and that, of the Acts originally passed without the publick Clause, several are declared publick, by Clauses in subsequent continuing or amending Acts.

FROM the beginning of the Reign of George I. to the Year 1798, Acts of a local nature, inserted in the Series of Publick Acts, very generally contain the publick Clause, which is also not unfrequently (though uselessly) inserted in many Acts essentially publick. Acts of a local nature and not having the publick Clause are during that time inserted in the List of Private Acts.

IN the Year 1796, the Report already alluded to, respecting the Promulgation of the Statutes, was made to the British House of Commons by the Committee appointed for that purpose; in consequence of which the Statutes of the 38th Year of the King were arranged into three Series—1. Publick General Acts—2. Publick Local and Personal Acts—and 3. Private Acts—the two former being printed and distributed, <sup>1</sup> Provided always and be it enacted, that this present Act of Parliament shall be accepted, taken, reputed to be a General and Publick Act of Parliament; of which all and every the Judge and Judges of this Kingdom, in all Courts, shall take notice on all occasions whatsoever, as if it were a publick Act of Parliament relating to the whole Kingdom, any thing herein contained to the contrary thereof in anywise notwithstanding. 2 W. & M. ſic 1. c. 8. § 17.

the King's Printer, and the latter remaining as heretofore unprinted: But where the Parties concerned followed the Directions of the Legislature, and procured a Clause to be inserted for declaring the Act to be publick, such Acts were placed in the second Series.

In the course of the Session 43 Geo. III. Experience and unremitting Attention to the subject evinced the necessity of some farther Regulation, and the Series were then classed in the following manner—1. Publick General Acts—2. Local and Personal Acts to be judicially noticed: (including as well Local Acts made publick by the usual publick Clause, as also Local and Personal Acts having a Clause introduced in pursuance of a Resolution of the Houses of Lords and Commons in that Session:*)—and 3. Local and Personal Acts not printed: (being such as were before called Private Acts).

Thus have we, after many changes and irregularities, reverted to the Ancient and Constitutional Classification of the Statute Law; to the Distinction between Acts published and not published; printed and not printed; as nearly as the circumstances of the time, the increased number of Acts, and the infinite variety of matter contained in them, will allow. A continued, active, and vigilant Superintendance is still requisite to keep this unwieldy and increasing mass in due order.

THE changes noticed as having taken place in the progress of the Statutory distinction between Publick and Private Acts, in the form and arrangement rather than in the substance of the English or British Statute Law, are the natural result of a widely extended System of Legislation. In the Collections of Scotch Laws, the Series of Acts have been invariably divided into printed and not printed (or omitted); the latter being in former times described also as 'Particular Acts'—a term which seems peculiarly expressive of the nature of all local and personal Acts. Lists of these unprinted Acts are given from the earliest period of the Scotch Statute Book, and appear to be (with a few important exceptions) for the most part personal; while the general Acts are almost invariably of a nature entirely publick, and happily from the character and situation of the Country, in most instances short and explicit. In the Collection of Irish Statutes, all

* See Votes of the House of Commons, March 15, 23, and 24, 1762.—The following is the Form of the Clause:

"And be it enacted, that this Act shall be printed by the Printer to the King's most Excellent Majesty, and when so printed may be given in Evidence in all Courts of Justice, and before all Judges and Justices whomsoever, who shall take judicial notice thereof in like manner as of the same had been declared a Publick Act."

The following is the Form of the General Publick Clause:

"And be it further enacted, that this Act shall be deemed, adjudged, and taken to be a publick Act, and shall be judicially taken notice of as such by all Judges, Justices, and other persons whomsoever, without specially pleading the same."

* As to the legal distinction between publick and particular Statutes, and particular or private Statutes, and the effect of such distinction as regards particulars, see Magr. Co. Lit. 93 (1), 99 (2), and the Note there. See also the Report of the Committee of the House of Commons on the Privileges of the Statutes, printed Dec. 1796. See the same Report also as to the Parliamentary Distinction between Publick and Private Acts, respecting the fees paid on their passing.

the Acts are included in one Series. Those which in their nature are local or personal being declared publick by Clauses for that purpose, similar in nature and progress to those already stated from the English Acts. It must not be forgotten however, that the aggregate number of Legislative Acts of both those Countries bears a very small proportion to the immense Contents of the English and British Statute Book, from Magna Carta to the present time.

HAVING thus given a progressive view of the nature of the Source, from which all Collections of our Statute Law, by private Editors, must of necessity proceed; (and which, with reference to the more ancient Statutes previous to the Reign of Richard III. it is intended shall be enlarged on, in the Preface or Introductory Discourse to the first Volume of the Series beginning with Magna Carta;) little remains on the present occasion but to state what is to be expected in this Volume.

THE Title heretofore used of Statutes at Large has not been strictly applicable to the Contents of the Works to which it has been usually prefixed. All Editions subsequent to that called Ryhal's (published by the King's Printers in 1618<sup>**</sup>) omit or abridge the repeated Statutes, and also such other Acts as, though printed in the Sessional Publications, were not considered to be of a nature directly publick. In fact, if this course had not been pursued, the bulk of those works must have progressively increased so as to render them intolerably burthenfome, and in a great measure useless. In what other particulars these Editions were deficient will be more fully stated, at the future opportunity already alluded to; but to the particular deficiency here mentioned little can be objected, except its inconsistency with the titles of the respective Collections. It was the intention of them all to give the existing Laws, for the use of the Profession, in as moderate a compass as possible, free from such extraneous matter as appeared unnecessary and unprofitable to the general Lawyer, and aided by such Notes, References, and Indexes, as might render the consultation of them most easy for practical purposes.

SUCH also is the intention of the present Editor; and, in endeavouring to complete it with fidelity and accuracy, he has spent more time and labour than will be readily imagined on a cursory view. Though the path of his toils was not unexplored, he conceived that, with a view to all the circumstances already detailed, he was called upon to exercise a judgment somewhat different from that of a mere Continuator of the exertions of others. He considered himself as marking out a Precedent for future popular Editions of the Statutes of the United Kingdom; and as laying down a Principle by which the great body of the Acts of each Session might be uniformly reduced to such a size and arrangement, as to afford most information and satisfaction to the general Student and to the practising Lawyer.

<sup>**</sup> This Edition is distinct from the Collection originally published by Ryhal himself in 1557. See mentioned in Note (1).

WITH respect to the Public General Acts; the rule here followed has been, to give at full length the first recurring Statute of all such Acts as form any particular precedent of Legislation to be annually or frequently referred to at future periods; such, for example, as the annual Make and Pension-Duty, the Mutiny Acts, the Acts respecting Loans, Lotteries, and a variety of others which must suggest themselves to the Reader. Having so done, whenever similar Acts occur, such parts only of these are stated as differ from former Acts of the same nature; or when the difference is merely in dates and sums, such Notes are given as show the precise effect of the Act, without repeating the formal detail. In like manner, where an Act has been passed in the first instance, for the effecting any object within one part of the United Kingdom, and the same purpose is by subsequent Acts extended to other parts of the Kingdom (as particularly in the Acts 43 Geo. III. for raising an additional Military Force in England, Scotland, and Ireland respectively,) the first Act only is given at length; such parts of the other Acts as are precisely or essentially similar being noticed in an Abstract, marking the similarity, or describing the difference, if any; but when the knowledge of the precise terms of the Act is absolutely requisite, the Clause or Act is given at length, without regard to the appearance of repetition, or the effect of increasing the bulk of the Volume; those being, in all instances, circumstances secondary to that of uniformly pursuing the principle above noticed.

THE Acts passed from time to time for the continuance of divers temporary Laws, and also such Clauses in any Acts as are merely temporary, or contain a Repetition of formal Provisions frequently recurring, have in general been abridged or abstracted, so as to point out distinctly the Substance of the Clause, the term of Continuance, and the former Acts referred to.

THROUGHOUT the Volume a minute attention has been paid to the marginal Abstracts, which the Editor has endeavoured to make as concise and explicit as possible. Whenever an Act is cited or referred to, the Chapter, and, where necessary, the Section, is noted in the margin. Where also an Act is very long and detailed, and full of references from one part to another, the words 'heretofore,' and 'hereinafter,' are explained by References to the foregoing or subsequent Sections: and in general, whenever an Act is any way affected by a subsequent Act of the same Session, the necessary Reference is made.

WHERE any doubt has arisen as to the accuracy of the text, after the Proof were read by the Editor, the Printer has referred to the Roll in the Parliament Office. Allowing, therefore, for the probability of some errors escaping the most unwearied attention, it is to be understood that the Acts are an accurate transcript from the Roll. Some manifest errors have been corrected by subsequent Acts; and whenever these took place in time, they are noticed in the print. Such as could not be so noticed will be found found in the 'Addenda et Corrigenda' at the end of the Volume; to which the Lawyer will do well to pay early attention, for the purpose of marking the necessary alterations with his pen. In a very few instances the suggestion of an error in the Roll itself is made in a marginal note: it may perhaps be wished by some that this method had been more frequently adopted.

THE fluctuating State of our Laws is such (it may be inevitably) as to have caused the Insertion of several Acts in the present Volume which in the progress of its being printed have been repealed and replaced by others. This is an Inconvenience which it is not possible to avoid, in a Publication by Sessions for immediate use.

Thus much with respect to the Publîc General Acts, which must ever form the main body of our Statute Book. In preparing the second Series of each Session, i. e. the Private Local and Personal Acts, it has been the design to admit only those Parts of them which appeared interesting, namely, such as affect the publick Law of the Kingdom or any Bodie or Persons being in their nature peculiarly publick. On this ground all Clauses in these Acts which create Penalties, all which relate to the Rights of the King, have been (it is believed uniformly) noticed. Such also as may be considered historically interesting, of which nature is that relating to the Foundation of Dowry College (41 G. 3. c. 140.) and others, seem particularly to claim a place. In several Inclosure and other Acts, Provisions are made for the Relief of the Poor, for the Extinguishment of Tyranny, and for the effectuating of other objects, which though local in their operation, yet if carried into extensive effect by numerous Acts, must so materially ameliorate, or in all all events alter, the general Law of the Land, as to require the notice of the Constitutional Lawyer. To such Acts as relate to the City of London, peculiar attention has ever been paid, inasmuch that they have been considered in some Editions of the Statutes, (and, to a certain degree, in legal Decisions,) as amongst the most important publick Acts. The References made in the Margin of the Acts in this Series (and in the Table of Private Acts) to former Acts which they alter or continue, have, it is probable, cost much more time than will be repaid by the Utility of them, which must in its Nature be very confined.

THE INDEX to the Volume is formed upon the same Plan as that to the Volume of the Quarto Statutes from 35 Geo. III. to 41 Geo. III. (G. B.) with such Improvements as Experience has suggested. It has this Advantage over the Indexes to every other preceding Volume, that it refers to all the printed Acts, including those for Roads, Inclosures, Canals, &c. under their respective general Heads. The Particulars requisite to be attended to is

" It is to be observed that similar Provisions are also contained in Acts not printed. WHEREAS the raising or keeping a Standing Army within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in Time of Peace, subject to the Consent of Parliament, is against Law; And whereas

* it is judged necessary by His Majesty, and his present Parliament, that a Body of Forces should be continued

For the Safety of the United Kingdom, the Defence of the Possessions of His Majesty's Crowns, and the Preservation of the Balance of Power in Europe; and that the whole Number of such Forces shall consist of Eighty-five thousand nine hundred and forty effective Men, including seven thousand seven hundred and fifteen Invalids: And whereas no Man can be fore-judged of Life or Limb, or subjected in Time of Peace to any Kind of Punishment within this Realm, by Martial Law, or in any other Manner than by the Judgment of his Peers, and according to the known and established Laws of this Realm; yet nevertheless it being requisite for the raising of the before-mentioned Forces in their Duty, that an exact Discipline be observed, and that Soldiers who shall desert or fly up Soldiers, or shall desert His Majesty's Service, be brought to a more exemplary and speedy Punishment than the usual Force of the Law will allow; he it therefore enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, That if any Person who is or shall be commissioned or is Pay as an Officer, or who is or shall be listed or is Pay as a Non-commissioned Officer or Soldier, shall, at any Time during the Continuance of this Act, legis. made, made, or pay in any Majesty or Soldiers, in any Regiment, Troop, or Company, either of His Majesty's Land or Marine Forces, or shall on his own Endeavour to suppress the same, or coming to the Knowledge of any Mutiny, or intended Mutiny, shall set without Delay give Information thereof to his Commanding Officer, or shall otherwise himself before the Enemy; or shall cowardly abandon or deliver up any Garrison, Fort, or Place, or Guard, committed to his Charge, or which he shall be commanded to defend; or shall compel the Governor or Commanding Officer of any Garrison, Fort, or Place, to deliver up to the Enemy, or to abandon the same; or shall speak Words, or use any other Means to induce such Governor or Commanding Officer, or others, to abandon before the Enemy, or cowardly to abandon or deliver up any Garrison, Fort, or Place, or Guard, committed to their respective Charge, or which is or they shall be commanded to defend; or shall leave his Post before ordered; or shall be found sleeping on his Post; or shall hold Correspondence with, or give Advice or Intelligence to, any Rebel or Enemy of His Majesty, either by Letters, Messages, Signs, or Tokens, in any Manner or Way whatsoever; or shall treat or cater into any Terms with such Rebel or Enemy, without His Majesty's License, or License of the General, or Chief Commander; or shall strike or use any Violence against his Superior Officer, being in the Execution of his Office; or shall disobey any lawful Command of his Superior Officer; or shall desert His Majesty's Service; all and every Person so offending in any of the Matters before mentioned, whether such Offence shall be committed within this Realm, or in any other of His Majesty's Dominions, or in Foreign Parts, upon Land, or upon the Sea, shall suffer Death, or such other Punishment as by a Court-martial shall be awarded.

Every Officer, or such Person as is a Court-martial shall verify.

11. Provided, and it is hereby declared and enacted, That any Non-commissioned Officer or Soldier, listed or is Pay as any Regiment, Troop, or Company, who shall, without having first obtained a regular Discharge therefrom, sell himself in any other Regiment, Troop, or Company, shall be deemed to have deserted His Majesty's Service, and shall in like Manner suffer Death, or such other Punishment as by a Court-martial shall be awarded.

12. And whereas Deaths have arisen, whether Soldiers, who of Right belong to another Corps in which they first enlisted, and from which they have not obtained a Discharge, may be proceeded against and tried for deserting any Corps in which they may afterwards have enlisted, or for any Crime committed by them whilst serving therein; he it enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That if any Person who is or shall be listed or is Pay, as a Soldier, in any Regiment, Troop, or Company, in His Majesty's Service, shall desert the same, or shall, while serving therein, commit any Offence against this Act, or against the Rules or Articles of War, such Person shall be liable to be tried by a Court-martial, and punished in like Manner as if he had originally enlisted in, and of Right belonged to the same, notwithstanding it shall have been discovered or known that he had previously belonged to some other Regiment, Troop, or Company, and had not been discharged therefrom: Provided always, That if such Person shall be charged by such other Regiment, Troop, or Company, and be proceeded against as a Deserter therefrom, his subsequent Defence be in any One or more Corps in which he may have lawfully enlisted, may (which he shall already have been tried for the same) be given in Evidence as an Aggravation of his Crime; previous Notice being always given to such Deserter of the Facts intended to be produced in Evidence upon his Trial.

13. And be it further enacted and declared, That in the Case of any Non-commissioned Officer or Soldier tried and convicted of Desertion, whatsoever, or of any Offence against this Act, or against the Rules or Articles of War, such Court-martial, which shall pass Sentence upon such Trial, shall not think the Offence deserving of Capital Punishment, such Court-martial may, instead of awarding a Capital Punishment, adjudge the Offender, if they shall think fit, to serve as a Non-commissioned Officer or Soldier in any of the Corps listed in any of His Majesty's Dominions beyond the Seas, or in Foreign Parts, for Life, or for a certain Term of Years, according to the Degree of the Offence: And if such Non-commissioned Officer or Soldier shall afterwards (without Leave from His Majesty, or from the Commanding Officer of the Corps, in which he shall be appointed to serve) return into any Part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, before the Expiration of the Term laid by such Sentence, and shall be caught thereof by a Court-martial, he shall suffer Death.

14. And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That His Majesty may, from Time to Time, grant a Commission, under the Royal Sign Manual, for the holding of General Courts-martial within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in like Manner as has been heretofore used; and may also extend His Royal Warrant to any General Officer having the chief Command of a Body of Forces, within the same, authorizing him to convene General Courts-martial for the Trial of Offences committed by any of the Forces under his Command; and that His Majesty may likewise, from Time to Time, by His Royal Com-

C A P. XXIII.

An Act for the better Collection of Rates made for the Relief of the Poor. [18th April 1801.]

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the sixteenth Year of the Reign of his late Majesty King George the Third, intituled, An Act for providing for the Relief of the Poor, made in the forty-third Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, intituled, 'An Act for the Relief of the Poor,' Power was given to Justices of the Peace, upon Appeal from Rates and Assessments, where they should be just Cause to give Relief, to amend the same in such Manner as should be necessary for giving such Relief, without altering such Rates or Assessments with respect to other Persons entitled to the same: And whereas the quashing or setting aside of Rates or Assessments made for the Relief of the Poor, attended with great Inconvenience; and it hath happened, in consequence of the Rate or Assessment being quashed or set aside, or of Notice of Appeal against the whole Rate or Assessment, the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor have not had any Money in hand for the Relief and Maintenance of the Poor: For Remedy whereof, may it please your Majesty that it may be enacted (and be it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the Assents of the same, That, from and after the passing of this Act, upon all Appeals from any Rate or Assessment made for the Relief of the Poor of any Parish, Township, Vill, or Place, the Court of General or Quarter Sessions of the Peace, and such Court is hereby authorized and required (in all Cases where they shall be full Court, to give Relief) to amend such Rates or Assessments, either by inserting therein or Retrospectively the Name or Names of any Person or Persons, or by altering the Sum or Sums therein charged on any Person or Persons, or in any other Manner which the said Court shall think necessary for giving such Relief, and without quashing or wholly setting aside such Rate or Assessment: Provided always, That if the said Court shall be of opinion that it is necessary, for the Purpose of giving Relief to the Person or Persons appealing, that the Rate or Assessment should be wholly quashed, then the said Court may quash the same; but nevertheless, all and every the Sum and Sums of Money so and by such Rate or Assessment charged on any Person or Persons, shall and may be levied and recovered by such Ways and Means, and in such and the same Manner, as if no Appeal had been made against such Rate or Assessment; and all and every the Sum and Sums of Money which any Person or Persons charged in such Rate or Assessment shall pay, or which shall be levied upon or recovered from him, her, or them, shall be deemed and taken as Payment, on account of the best effective Rate or Rates, Assessment or Assessments, which shall be made for the Relief of the Poor of the same Parish, Township, Vill, or Place.

II. And be it further enacted, That, from and after the passing of this Act, all and every the Sum and Sums of Money at which a Person or Persons in or for or full is rated or assessed, in any Rate or Assessment made for the Relief of the Poor of any Parish, Township, Vill, or Place, shall and may be levied and recovered by Distress, and all other lawful Ways and Means, notwithstanding the Person or Persons so rated or assessed, or any other Person or Persons, shall have given Notice of Appeal from or against such Rate or Assessment, for any Cause whatsoever: Provided always, That if any Person, rated or assessed in any Rate or Assessment made for the Relief of the Poor, shall give such Notice of Appeal as herein-after mentioned to the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of any Parish, Township, Vill, or Place, or any two of them, then, from and after the passing of such Notice, and until the Appeal shall have been heard and determined, no Proceedings shall be commenced or carried on to recover any greater Sum or Sums of Money than such Person or Persons, then the Sum or Sums at which he, she, or they, or any Co-tenant of the same Premises, shall have been rated or assessed in the last effective Rate which shall have been collected in such Parish, Township, Vill, or Place.

III. And be it further enacted, That in case the said Court of General or Quarter Sessions of the Peace shall upon Appeal order any Rate or Assessment for the Relief of the Poor to be quashed, it shall be lawful for the said Court to order that any Sum or Sums of Money, so and by such Rate or Assessment charged on any Person or Persons, or any Part of any such Sum or Sums, set to be paid, and thus and in every such Case no Proceedings shall be so further prosecuted or carried on for the Purpose of levying or enforcing the Payment of any Sum or Sums which shall be so ordered by the said Court not to be paid as aforesaid: Provided always, That no Justice of the Peace, Constable, or other Officer of the Peace or other Person shall be deemed a Trespasser, or liable to any Action, for any Warrant, Order, Act, or Thing, which such Justice, Constable, or other Officer or Person shall have executed, made, executed, or done, for the Purpose of levying or enforcing the Payment of any such Sum or Sums of Money before he shall have had Notice in Writing of the Order for the Non-payment of such Sum or Sums of Money, which the said Court is hereby authorized to make as aforesaid.

IV. And be it further enacted, That, from and after the passing of this Act, all Notices of Appeal from or against any Rate or Assessment made for the Relief of the Poor, or from or against the Account of the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of any Parish, Township, Vill, or Place, shall be in Writing, and shall be signed by the Person or Persons giving the same, or his, her, or their Attorney, or his, her, or their Solicitor; and such Notices of Appeal shall be delivered to or left at the Place of Abode of the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of the Parish, Township, Vill, or Place, or any two of them, and the justices of the Peace or Justices of Appeal, shall be rated and specified in such Notice; and upon the Hearing of any Appeal from or against any such Rate or Assessment, or Assessment, the Court of General or Quarter Sessions to which such Appeal shall be made, shall not exercise or enquire into any other Cause or Ground of Appeal than such as are or is stated and specified in the Notice of Appeal.

On Appeal from any Poor Rate, the Quarter Sessions may amend quashing or, if necessary, to give Relief, may amend the Rate; but the Court shall not amend or give Relief and appoint an Assessor of the poor relief Rate.

Notice of Appeal shall not prevent the rate being made for the Recovery of the Rate, but to quash the rate by appeal, the Court shall have full authority to give Relief.

Quarter Sessions may give notice of Appeal from or against the Rate, but to quash the rate by appeal, the Court shall have full authority to give Relief.

V. Provided nevertheless, and be it further enacted, That with the Consent of the Overseers, Equified by them or their Surveyor to open Court, and with the Consent of any other Person interested therein, the said Court of Sessions may proceed to hear and decide upon such Appeal, although no Notice thereof shall have been given in Writing; and also that with the like Consent of such Court may hear and decide upon Causes of Appeal, not stated or mentioned in such written Notice, where any Notice shall have been given in Writing.

VI. And be it further enacted, That, from and after the passing of this Act, if any Person or Persons shall appeal against any Rate or Assessment made for the Relief of the Poor, because any other Person or Persons a or are rated or assessed in such Rate or Assessment, or a or are omitted to be rated or assessed therein, or because any other Person or Persons is or are rated or assessed in any such Rate or Assessment at any greater or less Sum or Sums of Money than the Sum or Sums at which he, she, or they ought to be rated or assessed therein, or for any other Cause that may require any Alteration to be made in such Rate or Assessment with respect to any other Person or Persons, then and in every such Case the Person or Persons is appealing for the Causes aforesaid, or any of them, shall give such Notice of Appeal, in Writing as herein-before mentioned, not only to the Churchwardens or Overseers of the Poor, or any two or more of them, but also to the other Person or Persons is interested or concerned in the Effect of such Appeal as aforesaid; and such other Person or Persons shall, if he, she, or they shall so desire, be heard upon the said Appeal; and it shall be lawful for the Court of General or Quarter Sessions of the Peace, on the Hearing of such Appeal, to order the Name or Names of such other Person or Persons to be added in such Rate or Assessment, and here, her, or them to be therein rated and assessed at any Sum or Sums of Money, or to order the Name or Names of such other Person or Persons to be struck out of such Rate or Assessment, or the Sum or Sums at which he, she, or they is or are rated or assessed therein, to be altered, in such Manner as the said Court shall think right; and the proper Officer of the said Court shall forthwith add to or alter the Rate or Assessment accordingly.

VII. And be it further enacted, That if upon the Hearing of any Appeal from or against any Rate or Assessment, the said Court shall order the Name or Names of any Person or Persons to be inserted therein, and here, her, or them to be rated or assessed at any Sum or Sums of Money, or shall order the Sum or Sums at which any Person or Persons is or are therein rated or assessed to be added or increased, then and in such Case all and every the Sum and Sums of Money, at or to which such Person or Persons shall be so ordered to be rated or assessed, or to be added or increased, or to be added thereto as shall not have been already paid, shall and may be recovered as such and the same Manner, and by such and the same Means, as if he, she, or they had been originally named in such Rate or Assessment, and rated or assessed therein at such Sum or Sums of Money.

VIII. And be it enacted, That if upon the Hearing of any Appeal from any Rate or Assessment for the Relief of the Poor, the Court of General or Quarter Sessions of the Peace shall order the Name or Names of any Person or Persons to be struck out of such Rate or Assessment, or the Sum or Sums rated or assessed on any Person or Persons to be decreased or lowered; and if a shall be made upon to the said Court, that such Person or Persons hath or have, previously to the Hearing of such Appeal, paid any Sum or Sums of Money, in consequence of such Rate or Assessment, which he, she, or they ought not to have paid or been charged with, then and in every such Case the said Court shall order all and every such Sum and Sums of Money to be repaid and returned, by the said Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor, to the Person or Persons having paid the same respectively, together with all reasonable Costs, Charges, and Expenses, occasioned by such Person or Persons having paid or been required to pay the same; and all and every the Sum and Sums of Money so ordered to be repaid or returned by the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor, or any of them, shall and may, together with all such Costs, Charges, and Expenses as aforesaid, be levied and recovered from them, or any of them, by Distress and all such other Ways and Means as the Money charged, rated, or assessed on any Person, by any Rate or Assessment made for the Relief of the Poor, can or may be, by Law levied or recovered.

IX. And whereas it may have happened that the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of some Parishes, Townships, Vills, or Places, have not been able to collect a Sum of Money sufficient for the Relief and Maintenance of the Poor within or belonging to the same, but they, or the Guardian or Guardians of the Poor of such Parishes, Townships, Vills, or Places, have heretofore usually advanced and expended considerable Sums for that Purpose; be it therefore enacted, That it shall be lawful for the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of any Parish, Township, Vill, or Place, or any of them, out of any Money which they or any of them shall collect or receive by virtue or in pursuance of any Rate or Assessment made for the Relief of the Poor of such Parish, Township, Vill or Place, to repay and reimburse the preceding Churchwardens and Overseers, Guardians or Guardians of the Poor of such Parish, Township, Vill, or Place, all such Sums of Money as they or any of them have heretofore advanced or expended for the Relief and Maintenance of the Poor within or belonging to such Parish, Township, Vill, or Place, during the Time that any Rate or Assessment for the Relief of the Poor thereof has been made, or during the Time that any Appeal has been depending which affected the Whole of such Rate or Assessment, or upon the Hearing of which, the same might be wholly quashed or set aside; and in case the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of any Parish, Township, Vill, or Place, shall not pay to the preceding Churchwardens and Overseers, Guardians or Guardians, all such Sums of Money as they or any of them have heretofore advanced or expended, for the Relief and Maintenance of the Poor as aforesaid, within fourteen Days next after Demand in Writing made for that Purpose, it shall be lawful for such preceding Churchwardens and Overseers, Guardians or Guardians of the Poor, or any of them, to apply to the third next Court of General or Quarter Sessions of the Peace for the County, Riding, Division, Town, Corporation, or Borough, within which such Parish, Township, Vill, or Place is situate, giving due Notice in Writing of such Application to the then Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of such Parish, Township, Vill, or Place, or any two or more of them; and the said Court of General or Quarter Sessions of the Peace shall examine into the Matter of the said Application, and examine the Parties and their Witnesses upon Oath, and shall make an Order upon the then Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of such Parish, Township, Vill, or Appeal may be allowed, if the Court think fit, and may also order the Costs of such Appeal to be paid by the Person or Persons appealing against any Rate or Assessment, or by the Person or Persons to be added or increased, or to be added thereto as shall not have been already paid.

Persons appealing against any Rate or Assessment shall give Notice, not only to the Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor, or any two or more of them, but also to the other Person or Persons interested or concerned in the Effect of such Appeal as aforesaid.

The Rate shall be recovered as if he, she, or they had been originally named in such Rate or Assessment, and rated or assessed therein at such Sum or Sums of Money.

In case the Name of any Person or Persons is ordered to be added in such Rate or Assessment, or the Sum or Sums at which any Person or Persons is or are therein rated or assessed to be added or increased, then and in such Case all and every the Sum and Sums of Money, at or to which such Person or Persons shall be so ordered to be rated or assessed, or to be added or increased, or to be added thereto as shall not have been already paid, shall and may be recovered as such and the same Manner, and by such and the same Means, as if he, she, or they had been originally named in such Rate or Assessment, and rated or assessed therein at such Sum or Sums of Money.

As an Act for reviving and further continuing, until six Weeks after the Commencement of the next Session of Parliament, several Acts, made in the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, and fortieth Years of his present Majesty's Reign, and in the last Session of Parliament, for empowering his Majesty to secure and detain such Persons as his Majesty shall suspect are conspiring against his Person and Government. [14th April 1801.]

41 G. 3. (25.) E. 1. 24.

WHEREAS an Act was passed in the last Session of Parliament, intitled, An Act for further continuing, until six Weeks after the Commencement of the next Session of Parliament, several Acts, made in the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth Years of his present Majesty's Reign, and in the last Session of Parliament, for empowering his Majesty to secure and detain such Persons as his Majesty shall suspect are conspiring against his Person and Government; which Act was to continue in force until six Weeks after the Commencement of the next Session of Parliament, and no longer: And whereas it is necessary for the publick Safety that the Provisions of the said Act should be revived and continued: be it therefore enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, That every Person who shall be in Prison within that Part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, called Great Britain, at or upon the Day on which this Act shall receive his Majesty's Royal Assent, or at any Time after that Day, by Warrant of his said Majesty's most Honourable Privy Council, signed by six of the said Privy Council, or by Warrant signed by any of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, for High Treason, Sedition, or Treason, or Treasonable Practices, may be detained in safe Custody, without Bail or Mainprise, until the Expiration of six Weeks after the Commencement of the next Session of Parliament: and that no Judge or Justice of the Peace shall bail or try any such Person so committed, without Order from his said Majesty's Privy Council, signed by six of the said Privy Council, until the Expiration of six Weeks after the Commencement of the next Session of Parliament; any Law or Statute to the contrary notwithstanding.

II. And be it further enacted, That the Act made in Ireland in the Year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and one, intitled, An Act for preventing seditious, injurious, and scandalous Discourses or Tracts, in so far as the same may be construed to relate to Cases of Treason and Sedition of Treason, be suspended until the Expiration of six Weeks after the Commencement of the next Session of Parliament; and that until the said Day no Judge, Justice of the Peace, or other Officer of the Law in Ireland, shall hear, try, or admit to bail, any Person or Persons that is, are, or shall be, in Prison within Ireland for such Crimes as aforesaid, without Order from his said Majesty's Privy Council, signed by six of the said Privy Council.

Provided always, That, from and after the Expiration of six Weeks after the Commencement of the next Session of Parliament, the said Persons so committed shall have the Benefit and Advantage of all Laws and Statutes any Way relating to or providing for the Liberty of the Subjects of the Realm.

IV. Provided always, and be it enacted, That nothing in this Act shall be construed to extend to invalidate the ancient Rights and Privileges in Parliament, or to the Imprisonment or Detention of any Member of either House of Parliament, during the Sitting of such Parliament, and the Manner of his being bound subjected be still committed to the House of which he is a Member, and the Consent of the said House obtained for his

V. Provided nevertheless, That any Person or Persons in Prison, at the Time of passing this Act, against whom any Bill or Bills of Indictment for High Treason have been already found, shall and may be tried on such Indictment, as if this Act had never passed.

VI. And whereas it may be highly important, that such Persons as have been or shall be accused and detained on Charges of High Treason, Suspicion of High Treason, and Treasonable Practices, under Warrants from one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, under the Authority of the said recited Acts or of this Act, should be kept wholly separate and apart from each other, in so as to prevent all Communication between them and with other Persons, except such Communication as his Majesty may think fit to permit, and under such Restrictions as may be advisable; and it has been found by Experience to be very difficult to keep such Persons separate as aforesaid, and to prevent such Communication as aforesaid, without sending such Persons to different Places of Confinement; and Judges may write how far the Powers of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, to change the Places of Confinement of Persons so committed extends, and it is expedient to provide that the same shall not be exercised as to deprive the Persons so committed of any Right to be tried or discharged, which they might respectively have had if their respective Places of Confinement had not been changed; Now, to obviate all Doubts and Difficulties in respect thereof, he it further enacted and declared, That it shall be lawful for one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, as he shall for Occasion, to order any Person committed to any Goal, or other Prison, on any Charge of High Treason, Suspicion of High Treason, or Treasonable Practices, either before or after Indictment found, to be conveyed to and detained in any other Goal or other Prison, until discharged by due Course of Law, and to fill all Warrants necessary for such Persons: Provided always nevertheless, That no Person who shall be removed by any such Warrant as aforesaid, shall be, by Means of such Removal, deprived of such Right to be tried or discharged, as such Person would by Law have been entitled to if not so removed; and in every Case in which any such Person would have been entitled to have been tried or discharged if such Person had continued in the Goal or Prison to which such Person was before committed, it shall be lawful for such Person to apply to be haled or discharged, in the same Manner as such Person might have done if such Person had remained in the Goal or Prison to which such Person was before committed as aforesaid.

VII. And whereas in the disturbed State of Ireland, it has been found necessary to send divers Persons who have been committed to Prison in Ireland on Charges of High Treason, Suspicion of High Treason, or Treasonable Practices, to Great Britain for safe Custody, and for the Purpose of preventing improper Intercourse between such Persons and other Persons engaged, or suspected of being engaged, in the late Treason or Treasonable Practices; and it may be found expedient to send other Persons to Great Britain under the Circumstances hereinafter to be enacted, That every Person who hath been sent to Great Britain as aforesaid, before the passing of this Act, and every Person who after the passing of this Act shall be sent to Great Britain for safe Custody, by Order of the Lord Lieutenant or Governor General, or other Chief Governmental Chief Governors of Ireland, and of six or more of his Majesty's Privy Council of Ireland, shall and may be detained in Custody in Great Britain, as such Place of safe Custody, as to his Majesty shall seem fit; provided such Person shall be charged with High Treason, Suspicion of High Treason, or Treasonable Practices, by Warrant under the Hand and Seal of one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

IX. And whereas many Persons engaged in the late Rebellion in Ireland, and in other treasonable Practices there, have fled from Ireland, and are now in Great Britain and other Parts may come from Ireland to Great Britain and in the like Circumstances; and it may be expedient not only to send such Persons for the Purpose of sending them to Ireland to be tried for such Offences, but also to seize and detain such Persons in Great Britain until they can be properly sent to Ireland to be tried or discharged in due Course of Law; he it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by Warrant under his Hand and Seal, to order any Person who shall be in Custody upon any Charge of High Treason, Suspicion of High Treason, or Treasonable Practices, done or committed in Ireland, to be seized or detained in Great Britain until such Person can be properly sent to Ireland, to be tried or discharged in due Course of Law.

X. Provided always nevertheless, That no Person shall be detained as aforesaid in so as to prevent the Trial or Discharge of such Person in due Course of Law, whenever such Person shall by the Law of Ireland be entitled to such Trial or Discharge; but in all Cases in which any Person is detained would by the Law of Ireland, if in Custody there, be entitled to be tried or discharged, it shall be lawful for such Person to apply to the Court of King's Bench in England, or to any Judge of that Court, or to the Court of Judicature in Scotland, or to any Judge of that Court, to be discharged; and if it shall appear to such Court or to such Judge, that such Person

AN Act for indemnifying such Persons as, since the first Day of February one thousand seven hundred and ninety-three, have acted in the apprehending, imprisoning, or detaining in Custody, in Great Britain, of Persons suspected of High Treason or Treasonable Practices. [14th June 1801.]

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the Parliament of Great Britain, in the thirty-fourth Year of his present Majesty's Reign, intitled, An Act to improve his Majesty's peace and detain such Persons or his Majesty shall judge are conspiring against his Person and Government, reciting, that a numerous and detestable Conspiracy had been formed for subverting the existing Laws and Constitution, and for introducing the System of Anarchy and Confusion, which had so lately prevailed in France, and for the better Prosecution of his Majesty's sacred Person, and for securing the Peace and Liberties of the Kingdom, enacted, That every Person or Persons who were or should be in Prison, within the Kingdom of Great Britain, at the Time therein mentioned, or after, by Warrant issued as therein specified, for High Treason, Suspicion of High Treason, or Treasonable Practices, might be detained in safe Custody as therein provided; and that the Act made in Scotland, intitled, An Act for preventing dangerous Imprisonment and against undue Delays in Trials, in so far as the same might be construed to relate to Cases of Treason and Suspicion of Treason, should be suspended, as therein also provided; which Act was to continue in Force until the first Day of February one thousand seven hundred and ninety-five, and was afterwards by a subsequent Act continued until the first Day of July one thousand seven hundred and ninety-five: And whereas by another Act, passed in the Parliament of Great Britain, in the thirty-eighth Year of the Reign of his present Majesty, also intitled, An Act to improve his Majesty's peace and detain such Persons as his Majesty shall judge are conspiring against his Person and Government, reciting, that his Majesty's Enemies were making Preparations, with considerable and increasing Activity, for the Invasion of his Majesty's Dominions, and that these Delays were encouraged by the treacherous Practices of wicked and dissipated Persons within the Realm, it was, for the like Purposes, enacted in the Manner as is contained in the said recited Act of the thirty-fourth Year of his Majesty's Reign; which Act of the thirty-eighth Year of his Majesty's Reign was to continue in Force until the first Day of February one thousand seven hundred and ninety-seven, and was afterwards, by several subsequent Acts, continued until six Weeks after the Commencement of the present Session of Parliament: And whereas by an Act passed in the present Session of Parliament, intitled, An Act for reviewing and farther enacting, until six Weeks after the Commencement of the next Session of Parliament, several Acts made in the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, and fortieth Years of his present Majesty's Reign, and in the last Session of Parliament for improving his Majesty's peace and detain such Persons as his Majesty shall judge are conspiring against his Person and Government, it was enacted in like Manner as is contained in the said Act passed in the thirty-eighth Year of his present Majesty's Reign; and which said Act of the present Session of Parliament is to continue in Force until the Expiration of six Weeks after the Commencement of the next Session of Parliament: And whereas in order to secure the general Peace and Tranquillity of the Country, and to command the necessary Diligence in the said Acts recited, it hath been deemed necessary from Time to Time to apprehend, imprison, and detain in Custody in Great Britain, several Persons suspected of High Treason or Treasonable Practices: And whereas in case the Acts and Proceedings of the several Persons employed or concerned in such apprehending, imprisoning, and detaining in Custody, should be called in Question, it would be apprehensible for them to justify or defend the same without an open Disclosure of the Means by which the said treasonable Delays were discovered; and it is necessary, for the better Prevention of similar Practices, that these Means of Information should remain secret and undisclosed; be it therefore enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, That all persons Adverses, Suits, Testimonies, Informations, and Prosecutions, heretofore brought, commenced, preferred, exhibited, or now depending, or to be hereafter brought, commenced, preferred, or exhibited, and all Judgments thereupon obtained, if any fact there be, and all Proceedings whatsoever, against any Person or Persons, for or on Account of any Act, Matter, or Thing by him or them done, or committed, ordered, directed, or advised to be done, in Great Britain, since the first Day of February one thousand seven hundred and ninety-three, for apprehending, imprisoning, or detaining in Custody any Person charged with or suspected of High Treason or Treasonable Practices, shall be discharged and made void; and that every Person by whom any such Act, Matter, or Thing shall have been done or committed, ordered, directed, or advised to be done, shall be freed, acquitted, discharged, and indemnified as well against the King's Majesty, his Heirs and Successors, as against the Person and Persons so apprehended, imprisoned, or detained in Custody, and all and every other Person and Persons whatsoever.

An Act for the better Regulation and Collection of certain Duties of Excise. [24 July 1801.]

WHEREAS by the Laws now in force in Great Britain, every Malster and Maker of Malt is liable to the Penalty of five Shillings for every Bushel of Corn or Grain in the Couch, steeped in order to the making thereof into Malt, and found in the Malshouse of such Malster, so hard, close, and compact, as it could not be, aside the same had by some Means or other been forced together to prevent the rising and swelling thereof: And whereas as Means are hit upon provided for the Officers of Excise to establish, by Experiment, whether any such Corn or Grain has been so really so forced together; and it is therefore expedient that the Power and Authority herein-mentioned should be given for the Purpose of making such Experiment: be it therefore enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the Authority of the same, That it shall and may be lawful to and for any Supervisor, and any other Officer of Excise in Great Britain, by themselves, or by any Perfit or Person by them employed for that Purpose, in the Presence of such Malster, or his, her, or their Scrives, (if such Malster or Scrives shall think fit to be present at such Operation), to throw or remove all the Corn or Grain from or out of any Couch which such Supervisor or Officer shall suspect to have been forced together, and to throw and lay the same level in such Malshouse; and if any Increase shall be found in the Gauge or Quantity of such Corn or Grain, on the Removal and laying the same level as aforesaid, exceeding the Rate of one Bushel in every twenty Bushels over and above the Quantity which the same appeared to be by the previous Gauge thereof taken in the Couch, then, and in every such Case, Proof being made of such Increase as aforesaid, the same shall be deemed conclusive Evidence, that such Malster, or Maker of Malt, did tread, run, or otherwise force together the said Corn or Grain in the Couch, or that the same was so hard, close, and compact, as it could not be, aside the same had by some Means or other been forced together to prevent the rising and swelling thereof; and such Malster, or Maker of Malt, shall forfeit and lose the Sum of five Shillings for every Bushel of such Corn or Grain of such Couch.

And whereas the Laws in force relating to the Duty of Excise imposed for and in respect of Bricks made in Great Britain, prescribe no Dimensions for such Bricks, and many Brick-makers have of late made Bricks of very unequally large Sizes, whereby the said Duty is likely to be greatly diminished, and it is therefore expedient to provide a Remedy against the Misfeasance which would arise in the Revenue, should the making of Bricks of such large Sizes become general; be it therefore enacted, That from and after the fifth Day of April next ensuing eight hundred and one, if any Perfit or Person shall make any Bricks in Great Britain, which, while drying or hardening in the Field, Shed, or other Place or Places where the same shall be made or prepared after being turned out of the Mould, and before removal to the Kiln or Champ for burning, shall be found to exceed any of the following Dimensions, that is to say, ten Inches long, three Inches thick, and five Inches wide, the Maker or Makers of such Bricks shall be, and he and they is and are hereby made chargeable with, and shall, over and above all other Duties now payable on such or any other Bricks by Law, pay an additional Duty of five Shillings for every thousand of such Bricks, and so in proportion for any greater or less Quantity of such Bricks; and the Officers of Excise are hereby required to make their Charge of Duty accordingly; which said additional Duty on such Bricks, exceeding any of the Dimensions aforesaid, shall be

III. * And whereas Commodities made in Imitation of, and intended to be sold and made use of as Substitutes for Coffee have of late been found in the Custody and Possession of various Dealers in Coffee in Great Britain, and it is therefore expedient to make such Provisions as a hereinafter mentioned, be it therefore enacted, That, from and after the fifth Day of July one thousand eight hundred and one, if any Commodity manufactured in Imitation of, or of resemble Coffee, or so farve as a Substitute for Coffee, or alleged to be so, shall be made for Sale, or sold, or shall be found in the Custody or Possession of any Dealer or Dealers in, or Seller or Sellers of Coffee in Great Britain, the same shall be forfeited, together with the Package containing the same, and shall and may be seized by any Officer or Officers of Excise; and the Person or Persons so making or selling the same, or the Dealer or Dealers in, or Seller or Sellers, of Coffee, in whose Custody or Possession the same shall be found, shall forfeit and lose the Sum of fifty Pounds.

V. * And whereas by a Clause in an Act passed in the thirty-eighth Year of the Reign of his present Majesty, * entitled, An Act in several Parts of English relating to Gun-makers, Artificers, Bar and Cyder exporters, Confectioners and Distillers, Scurps on Hides and Skins, Thread-makers on Wines and Sweets, Ale and Beer Licenses, it was enacted, That if any Person or Persons who should consent or forge, or cause or procure to be counterfeited or forged, any Certificate authorized or required to be granted by any Officer or Officers of Excise, under or by virtue of any Act or Acts of Parliament in Force now duly before the passing of that Act, and relating to any of the Duties of Excise; or if any Person or Persons should knowingly or willingly give any false or untrue Certificate as aforesaid, or shall knowingly or willingly accept or receive any false or untrue Certificate as aforesaid, or if any Person or Persons should fraudulently alter or erase any such true Certificate, after the same shall have been given or granted by the proper Officer or Officers of Excise, or if any Person or Persons should knowingly or willingly publish, or make use of any such Certificate as counterfeited, forged, false, untrue, altered, or erased, every Person or Persons in offending, shall, for each and every such Offence, severally forfeit the Sum of five hundred Pounds: And whereas it is expedient to amend the said recited Clause, and to insert therein to direct that every Person or Persons in offending, * shall be adjudged guilty of Felony, and subject to such Punishment as a hereinafter directed, * be it therefore enacted, That, from and after the fifth Day of July one thousand eight hundred and one, the said recited Clause shall be, and the same is hereby repealed; and that, from and after the said fifth Day of July one thousand eight hundred and one, if any Person or Persons whatsoever shall consent or forge, or cause or procure to be counterfeited or forged, any Certificate authorized or required to be granted by any Officer or Officers of Excise, under or by virtue of any Act or Acts of Parliament in Force immediately before the passing of this Act, and relating to any of the Duties of Excise, or if any Person or Persons shall knowingly or willingly give any false or untrue Certificate as aforesaid, or shall knowingly or willingly accept or receive any false or untrue Certificate as aforesaid, or if any Person or Persons shall fraudulently alter or erase any such true Certificate, after the same shall have been given or granted by the proper Officer or Officers of Excise, or if any Person or Persons shall knowingly or willingly publish or make use of any such Certificate as counterfeited, forged, false, untrue, altered, or erased, then, and in every such Case, the Person or Persons in offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be adjudged guilty of Felony, and shall for such his, her, or their Offence be transported as a Slave or Felon for the term of seven Years, in such Manner as Felons are appointed to be transported by an Act made in the twentieth Year of his present Majesty's Reign, entitled, An Act for the better Transportation of Felons and other Offenders, and to authorize the Revenue of Prisoners in certain Cases, and for other Purposes therein mentioned.

VI. * And whereas by an Act made in the twenty-sixth Year of the Reign of his present Majesty, intitled, An Act for regulating the Production of Malt, &c. and for more effectually preserving reasonable Privileges in relation to Breweries and Distilleries, and in the clearance and landing of Goods, it was amongst other Things enacted, that it should and might be lawful for the Commanders of any of his Majesty's Ships or Vessels of War, or any Commodore, Warrant, or Petty Officer, (specially authorized by them, to seize without any Deposition or Commission from the Commanders of his Majesty's Customs or Excise, for that Purpose, any Goods or Commodities whatsoever, or any Ships or Vessels whatsoever which should be subject to Forfeiture by that Act, or by any other Act or Acts of Parliament then in Force, for any Offence against the Revenue of Customs or Excise, provided the Commander of such Ship or Vessel of War should bring or cause to be brought, every such Seizure to his Majesty's Warehouse, at the nearest Customhouse to which such Seizure could conveniently be brought, and should there lodge and deposit the same in the Custody, and under the Charge and Care of the proper Officer of the Customs, in case the Seizure should be made under any Act for securing the Revenue of Customs, or in the Custody and under the Charge and Care of the proper Officer of Excise, in case it should be made under any Act for securing the Revenue of Excise only, and should, in all Respects in regard to the * Pro.

• Prohibition or Delivery of any such Seizures, conform to all and each and every of the Rules, Regulations, and Restrictions to which the Officers of his Majesty's Customs and Excise were then, in case of any such Seizures made by them respectively, subject; any Law, Custom, or Usage to the contrary notwithstanding;

• And whereas it is expedient to provide, that any such Seizures made under or by virtue of the said Statute;

• Ad. of any Goods or Commodities for or in respect whereof any Duty of Excise is by Law imposed, or of any Ship or Vessel which shall be subject to Forfeiture for or in respect of any such Goods or Commodities;

• Shall and may be brought to, and lodged and deposited in some or one of his Majesty's Warehouses of Excise, if the Comptroller or Officer or Officers making such Seizures shall deem it expedient so to do; and also that

• Each Seizure shall be prosecuted in like Manner as Seizures made by Officers of Excise are prosecuted by the Laws relating to the Revenue of Excise; it is therefore enacted, That any such Seizures of any Goods or Commodities for or in respect whereof any Duty of Excise is by Law imposed, or of any Ship or Vessel which shall be subject to Forfeiture for or in respect of any such Goods or Commodities, shall and may be brought to and lodged in some or one of his Majesty's Warehouses of Excise in Great Britain, in the Custody and under the Charge and Care of the proper Officer of Excise, if the Comptroller, or Officer or Officers making such Seizures, shall deem it expedient so to do, instead of bringing such Seizures to his Majesty's Warehouse at the Customs-house, according to the Direction of the said Statute; and that every such Seizure be brought to, and lodged and deposited in any such Excise Warehouse shall be prosecuted by and under the Direction of the Comptroller or Officer of Excise in like Manner as Seizures made by Officers of Excise are or may be prosecuted by any Law or Laws relating to the Revenue of Excise; any Thing to the said Statute contained to the contrary thereof notwithstanding.

VII. • And whereas by the Laws now in force certain Bounties and Drawbacks of Excise are prohibited or being granted for or in respect of certain excisable Goods and Commodities exported from Great Britain for Ireland, or for the Islands of Guernsey or Jersey, and a Certificate is produced certifying that the Goods have been duly landed there; And whereas no such Certificate can be produced for or in respect of such Goods as in the Voyage to any such Place of Destination, may unfortunately happen to be lost by being taken by Enemies, or by perishing in the Seas, and it is therefore expedient in any such Case as aforesaid after mentioned, to allow the Excise Bounties and Drawbacks for or in respect of any such Goods so lost as aforesaid; it is therefore enacted, That in every Case where it shall be made appear to the Satisfaction of the Commissioners of Excise, or the major Part of them, in England and Scotland respectively, that any excisable Goods or Commodities for or in respect whereof any Bounty or Drawback of Excise is given or granted by Law, and which were liable and regularly exported from Great Britain for Ireland, Guernsey, or Jersey, have in the Voyage to such Place of Destination, been unfortunately lost, by being taken by Enemies or perishing in the Seas, (the Examination and Proof thereof being left to the Judgment of the said respective Commissioners) it shall and may be lawful to and for the said respective Commissioners, or the major Part of them respectively, to order the Debenture to be made out for such Bounty or Drawback, or to pay such Bounty or Drawback for or in respect of any such Goods or Commodities so lost as aforesaid; any Act or Acts of Parliament to the contrary thereof notwithstanding.

VIII. • And whereas, by an Act passed in the twenty-seventh Year of the Reign of her present Majesty for • repealing the several Duties of Customs and Excise, and granting other Duties, in lieu thereof, as Excise Duty was chargeable for and upon all Sales by way of Auction in Great Britain, of any Goods or Chattels according to the respective Rates therein expressed: And whereas it is expedient that further Exemption from the said Duty should be made in favour of certain Articles, other than such as are now exempted from the same; it is therefore enacted, That, from after the fifth Day of July one thousand eight hundred and one, all Wheat, Barley, Rye, Oats, Rice, Peas, Beans, and other Cereals and Grains of every Sort, Flour and Meal, exported into that Part of the United Kingdom called Great Britain, and all Beef, Pork, Hams, Bacon, Cheese, and Butter, imported as aforesaid, shall be free of the said Duty, on the full Value thereof by Auction in Great Britain, by or for the Account of the original Importer, to whom the same shall be assigned, and by whom the same shall be entered at the Customs-house at the Port of Importation, so as such Sale be made within twelve Months after such Wheat, Barley, Rye, Oats, Rice, Peas, Beans, and other Cereals and Grains respectively, Flour and Meal, or Beef, Pork, Hams, Bacon, Cheese, or Butter, shall be imported, and by whose Petition duly heard to exempt the Trade or Business of an Auctioneer.

IX. • And whereas certain Goods, Wares, and Merchandises, have been for some Time under Separation in the Parts of England, and thereby exported to arrive in that Kingdom: And whereas it may become necessary to sell large Quantities thereof by Auction upon such Auction, in Order to the ascertaining the Value thereof, for the more speedy Settlement of Accounts between the Owners and Proprietors or Consignees of such Goods, Wares, and Merchandises, and Persons who have undertaken on the same, or heretofore Importers thereof: And whereas it is therefore expedient that such Goods, Wares, and Merchandises should be exempt from the Payment of the Duty charged upon Sales by way of Auction; it is therefore further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the Lords Commissioners of his Majesty's Treasury, or any three or more of them, in like they are hereby empowered, on Proof made to their Satisfaction, that any Goods, Wares, and Merchandises imported into this Country from England, have been detained and kept in that Country under Separation, during the late Disputes, and are to be sold in the United Kingdom for the Benefit of the Owners, Proprietors, and Importers thereof, to grant a Certificate thereof, and on the Production of such Certificate, such Goods, Wares, and Merchandises, shall be exempt from the Payment of the Duty of Excise chargeable thereon, and so in respect of the full Sale by Auction of such Goods, Wares, and Merchandises; and the same shall be exempt free of the Duty of Excise on such full Sale thereof by Auction in the United Kingdom, for and in Account of the Owners, Proprietors, and Importers thereof; any Thing in any Act or Acts contained to the contrary thereof notwithstanding.

X. And

Commissioners of Excise, in case of any Goods lost in the Exportation to Ireland, &c. which are exempted to Bounties or Drawbacks on landing, may make, or cause to be made, any such Certificate as aforesaid, in respect of any such Goods or Commodities so lost as aforesaid.

From July 5, 1801, to 1802, the Excise Duty on the full Value of any Goods or Chattels sold by Auction in Great Britain, shall be free of the said Duty, on the full Value thereof by Auction in Great Britain, by or for the Account of the original Importer, to whom the same shall be assigned, and by whom the same shall be entered at the Customs-house at the Port of Importation, so as such Sale be made within twelve Months after such Wheat, Barley, Rye, Oats, Rice, Peas, Beans, and other Cereals and Grains respectively, Flour and Meal, or Beef, Pork, Hams, Bacon, Cheese, or Butter, shall be imported, and by whose Petition duly heard to exempt the Trade or Business of an Auctioneer.

Therefore may such Goods which were under Separation in England, and which are to be sold in the United Kingdom, be exempt from the Duty of Excise on such full Sale thereof by Auction in the United Kingdom, for and in Account of the Owners, Proprietors, and Importers thereof.

A Copy of the former Law, or any the same or any Part thereof, as such Copies or Copies, and in such Manner as to the said Commissioners of the Navy shall seem fit, and they shall for that Purpose do.

V. And whereas it is considered that the Powers of the said Courts, and the Execution of their Process, should be rendered more full and effectual, he it therefore enacted, That each and every of the said Courts, the several Admirals, Captains, and Officers thereof in any two of the Islands in the West Indies, or in the said Isles, and in any one of the said Colonies in the West Indies, or in any one of the said Colonies, and over all Persons in any way concerned therein, and in all Matters and Things relating thereto, in any of the Powers and Authorities, and Jurisdiction in the said Courts, Provisions, Statutes, Ordinances, and Things relating thereto, as if such Provisions and Statutes were in force in any of the said Colonies where such Vice Admirals by Court shall be held; and as if the Parties concerned therein were actually resident within each Island or Colony.

VI. And he it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the Judges and other Officers of the said Courts, or the Commissioners, Captains, Deputies, Attachments, and other Process, to be executed in any other of the said Colonies or Territories in the West Indies or elsewhere, including therein the Bahamas and Bermuda Islands, for the Execution of Writs for the Apprehension and sale of captured Property, or for any other Process of legal Adjudication; and all such Commissioners, Captains, Deputies, Attachments, and Process, shall be valid and effectual, and shall be so full Force, and be put in Execution, in relation to all Matters and Things aforesaid in such Courts, in any of the said Colonies, Plantations, and Territories in the West Indies, or elsewhere, in relation to all of the said Colonies and Bermuda, notwithstanding any Law or Law, or any other Statute, Ordinance, or Provision to the contrary thereof; and all Marshals and Deputy Marshals, or other Officers executing Process of any judicial Nature, or in Default of any such being resident in any Island or Colony, all Officers acting as legal Process, by whatever Name or Names any such Officers shall be called, shall authoritarily require to execute the Process issuing from the said Courts, and shall be liable to such Issues, Writs, Forfeitures, or Penalties, for any Contempt, or any Neglect in executing thereof, as any Officer or Officers of such of the said Colonies are liable to for any Neglect, and as if such Court were established and held in the Island, Colony, or Territory in which the Execution of any such Officers are to be executed as aforesaid.

VII. And whereas it is expedient that the Proceeds of Property captured and conveyed by Sale, should be secured with said Adjudication, he it enacted, That in all Cases where a Commissioner of Apprehension and Sale is granted by the Judge of the Vice Admiralty Court before final Sentence, the Proceeds of such Sale, shall not remain in the Hands of the Captors or their Agents, but shall be brought into the Registry of the Court, and remain subject to the further Orders of the Court as aforesaid.

VIII. And whereas Injury is frequently sustained in the Sale of captured Property in remote Parts of His Majesty's Dominions, where there are vendible Markets for such Sales, he it therefore enacted, That in case of any Order for further Proof made by any Court of Vice Admiralty, and the Claimants thereof declining to take the Property whencesuch such Question shall arise upon Bail, it shall be lawful for the Court, before which such Question shall be depending, with the Consent of the Captors and Claimants, or their respective Agents, to direct such Property to be sent to England, and there to be sold by Auction, to be named by such Parties as aforesaid, and the Proceeds of Sale to be forthwith deposited in the Bank of England, in the Names of such Consignees, subject to the final Adjudication, the Expenses of Freight, Insurance, and other Charges attending the Transportation and Sale of the Property, to be a Charge thereon; and in case it shall appear in any such Court that the Consent of the Captors shall in any such Case be unreasonably withheld, the Captors shall (in case of Refutation) be adjudged and made accountable, and shall pay such Sum as shall be adjudged in any such Court to be equal to the Difference in Value of the Property at the Time of such Refutation, and what would have been the Produce thereof if it had been sent for Sale in England, such Difference to be ascertained in such Cases by such Ways and Means, and such Evidence as to what such Property would have sold for in Great Britain, and as to the Charges to which the same would have been subject, as such Court shall deem satisfactory for that Purpose.

IX. And he it further enacted, That if in any final Sentence or Adjudication of any such Court, an Appeal shall be duly entered, it shall be lawful for the Court from which such Appeal shall be made, at the Request of the Appellant, to direct the Property on which such Sentence or Adjudication shall have taken place, to be sent to England for Sale in like Manner as is herein before directed, and the Proceeds to be deposited in the Bank to abide the Direction of the Lords Commissioners of Appeal; or in case the Property shall have been conveyed by Sale, the Proceeds thereof shall be sent and deposited in like Manner; and in case any Question or Difficulty shall arise respecting any such Property or Proceeds sent to England, either before or after any such Appeal, at any Time after their Arrival in England, or respecting the Sale or Proceeds thereof, it shall be competent for either the Captors or Claimants thereof, or their respective Agents, upon Notice to the several Parties, or their Agents, to apply by their Proctor or Proctors in the High Court in Admiralty of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, if before the Appeal proffered, or afterwards to the Lords Commissioners of Appeal, for Directions in regard to the Sale or Management of such Property or Proceeds, and the said High Court of Admiralty, or Lords Commissioners aforesaid respectively are hereby authorized to give such Order and Direction therein as the Nature and Circumstances of the Case may require, for the Security of the Property or Proceeds, or for the beneficial Employment of the said Proceeds in Government Securities for the Benefit of the Parties who may ultimately whenever he is called, and to cause such Order and Directions to be enforced and put in Execution, if the same shall be necessary, by such and the like Ways and Means, and order and subject to such Penalties, Forfeitures, Regulations, and Restraints, as such Court or Lords Commissioners respectively may see or think fit, in relation to any Property, or Person or Persons, subject to the Jurisdiction or Control of such Court or Lords Commissioners respectively.

X. And whereas great Inconveniences have hitherto arisen from Delays in serving the Process of the Court of Appeal for obtaining Apprehensions and other Interlocutory Orders; he it is likewise enacted, That in all Cases of Captures by his Majesty's Ships, a Service upon his Majesty's Practice shall be deemed an effectual Service upon the Commander of the Ship making such Capture; and that upon the taking out of all Letters of Marque, the Owners of the Ships or Vessels in respect whereof such Letters of Marque shall be granted, shall nominate and register in the Court granting such Letters of Marque a Provision in the Court of Appeal as Price Coules, with Power of Remission and Satisfaction; and a Service of Process upon such Practice shall be deemed an effectual Service upon the Commanders, Owners, and Servants of Privateers in all Cases where an Appeal has been declared in the Court below within fourteen Days after Sentence; and in case any Provision shall proceed to Adjudication against any Privateer in any other Court than that from which the Letters of Marque shall issue (that for such Privateers, it shall be necessary that a Practice shall be registered as aforesaid, together with the Names of the Owners of and Sureties for the said Privateer, before the said Provision is granted, upon which Practice in like Manner the Service of the Process of the Court of Appeal shall be effectual): Provided nevertheless, That his Majesty's Practice, or any Process, registered as aforesaid, shall not be admissible for any Damages arising to their Parties respectively, from an Appearance being given to their Behalf in the Court of Appeal, unless the Practice for nominated shall have accepted such Nominations by a Writing under his Hand, and also unless the said Parties respectively shall have sufficiently instructed their said Practitioners to appear and defend the Appeal.

XI. And be it further enacted, That in all Cases where an Appeal has been entered as aforesaid, a Service of the Process either upon the Commander of the King's Ships, or upon his registered Agent in this Kingdom, or upon his Majesty's Law Officer in the Court below, or in Case of Capture, made by Privateers upon the Commander of the Privateer, or upon other or any of the Owners, or upon either of the Sureties to the Letters of Marque, shall be deemed a sufficient Service upon the Parties.

XII. And be it further enacted, That in all Proceedings had upon Captures made by any Privateer, the Owners shall be deemed and considered Parties to all and every Part of such Proceedings, and the said Owners, and likewise the Sureties, shall be jointly and severally liable to all Orders and Decrees made therein and made upon them respectively, immediately after final Sentence, without further personal Service upon the Commander, or putting him in Contempt by Process of Contumacy.

XIII. Provided always, and be it further enacted, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any Claimant or Claimants in whole Privateer a Breach of Restraints shall have been passed, or shall be hereafter passed, from having the Property claimed by him delivered to him or him in the Manner specified and directed by an Act, passed in the thirty-third Year of his present Majesty, intitled, An Act for the Encouragement of Seamen, and for the better and more effectually manning his Majesty's Navy.

XIV. And whereas it is expedient that the most speedy and effectual Means shall be taken to enforce the Execution of the Orders and Decrees of the Lords Commissioners of Appeal; be it therefore enacted, That all interlocutory Orders, Final Decrees, Attachments, or other Processes issued by the Lords Commissioners of Appeal, shall be executed in any of his Majesty's Plantations, may be transferred to either of the said Vice Admiralty Courts in which the Cause originally depended; and in respect to Causes already depending, or which may hereafter depend, in any other Vice Admiralty Court in the West Indies, including therein the Bahama and Bermuda Islands, before its Finalities in Matters of Price shall have been received, then such Order, Decree, Attachment, or other Process may be sent to either of the said Vice Admiralty Courts, which the Lords Commissioners of Appeal shall direct, there to be registered and carried into Execution by the said Court; which Court, upon the same being duly complied with, shall take the same Measures as if the said Order, Decree, Attachment, or other Process, had originally issued from the said Court.

XV. Provided always, and be it further enacted, That nothing in this Act contained shall extend, or be construed to extend, to release his Majesty, his Heirs or Successors, from issuing or granting any Commission of Price to any other Court or Courts, or from making such further Rules or Directions relating to any Courts of Admiralty for the Adjudication and Compensation of Prizes, as by his Majesty, his Heirs and Successors, with the Advice of his or their Privy Council, shall be thought necessary or proper.

XVI. Provided always, and be it further enacted, That in case his Majesty should be pleased to issue any Commission of Price to any other Vice Admiralty Court in the West Indies, such Court shall be subject to the same Regulations, and shall possess the same Authorities and Powers, as are provided by this Act for the Vice Admiralty Courts in any two of the Islands in the West Indies and at Barbadoes.

XVII. And be it further enacted, That no Person during the Time he shall hold the Office of Judge of any of the said Courts, shall, either by himself or by any Person on his Behalf or for his Benefit, act as Agent for any Prizes that may be captured from the Enemy, or shall have any Share or Interest directly or indirectly in any Privateer or Letter of Marque, or shall be anywise concerned in the Care, Management, or Superintendance of any Estates in any Island in the West Indies or on the Continent of America.

And be it further enacted, That in all Cases where an Appeal has been entered as aforesaid, a Service of the Process either upon the Commander of the King's Ships, or upon his registered Agent in this Kingdom, or upon his Majesty's Law Officer in the Court below, or in Case of Capture, made by Privateers upon the Commander of the Privateer, or upon other or any of the Owners, or upon either of the Sureties to the Letters of Marque, shall be deemed a sufficient Service upon the Parties.

And be it further enacted, That in all Proceedings had upon Captures made by any Privateer, the Owners shall be deemed and considered Parties to all and every Part of such Proceedings, and the said Owners, and likewise the Sureties, shall be jointly and severally liable to all Orders and Decrees made therein and made upon them respectively, immediately after final Sentence, without further personal Service upon the Commander, or putting him in Contempt by Process of Contumacy.

Provided always, and be it further enacted, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any Claimant or Claimants in whole Privateer a Breach of Restraints shall have been passed, or shall be hereafter passed, from having the Property claimed by him delivered to him or him in the Manner specified and directed by an Act, passed in the thirty-third Year of his present Majesty, intitled, An Act for the Encouragement of Seamen, and for the better and more effectually manning his Majesty's Navy.

And whereas it is expedient that the most speedy and effectual Means shall be taken to enforce the Execution of the Orders and Decrees of the Lords Commissioners of Appeal; be it therefore enacted, That all interlocutory Orders, Final Decrees, Attachments, or other Processes issued by the Lords Commissioners of Appeal, shall be executed in any of his Majesty's Plantations, may be transferred to either of the said Vice Admiralty Courts in which the Cause originally depended; and in respect to Causes already depending, or which may hereafter depend, in any other Vice Admiralty Court in the West Indies, including therein the Bahama and Bermuda Islands, before its Finalities in Matters of Price shall have been received, then such Order, Decree, Attachment, or other Process may be sent to either of the said Vice Admiralty Courts, which the Lords Commissioners of Appeal shall direct, there to be registered and carried into Execution by the said Court; which Court, upon the same being duly complied with, shall take the same Measures as if the said Order, Decree, Attachment, or other Process, had originally issued from the said Court.

Provided always, and be it further enacted, That nothing in this Act contained shall extend, or be construed to extend, to release his Majesty, his Heirs or Successors, from issuing or granting any Commission of Price to any other Court or Courts, or from making such further Rules or Directions relating to any Courts of Admiralty for the Adjudication and Compensation of Prizes, as by his Majesty, his Heirs and Successors, with the Advice of his or their Privy Council, shall be thought necessary or proper.

Provided always, and be it further enacted, That in case his Majesty should be pleased to issue any Commission of Price to any other Vice Admiralty Court in the West Indies, such Court shall be subject to the same Regulations, and shall possess the same Authorities and Powers, as are provided by this Act for the Vice Admiralty Courts in any two of the Islands in the West Indies and at Barbadoes.

And be it further enacted, That no Person during the Time he shall hold the Office of Judge of any of the said Courts, shall, either by himself or by any Person on his Behalf or for his Benefit, act as Agent for any Prizes that may be captured from the Enemy, or shall have any Share or Interest directly or indirectly in any Privateer or Letter of Marque, or shall be anywise concerned in the Care, Management, or Superintendance of any Estates in any Island in the West Indies or on the Continent of America.

And be it further enacted, That in all Cases where an Appeal has been entered as aforesaid, a Service of the Process either upon the Commander of the King's Ships, or upon his registered Agent in this Kingdom, or upon his Majesty's Law Officer in the Court below, or in Case of Capture, made by Privateers upon the Commander of the Privateer, or upon other or any of the Owners, or upon either of the Sureties to the Letters of Marque, shall be deemed a sufficient Service upon the Parties.

And be it further enacted, That in all Proceedings had upon Captures made by any Privateer, the Owners shall be deemed and considered Parties to all and every Part of such Proceedings, and the said Owners, and likewise the Sureties, shall be jointly and severally liable to all Orders and Decrees made therein and made upon them respectively, immediately after final Sentence, without further personal Service upon the Commander, or putting him in Contempt by Process of Contumacy.

Whole Expenses of attending and carrying into effect any Act, shall be in full paid by the Proprietors, the Commissioners may, on request, make the same to be levied by Distress, or may take such form of the Allocations, as of course they think fit to make.

XXIX. And whereas it may often be provided by such Act, that the Expenses of obtaining the same, and also the Expenses of carrying the same into Execution, shall be paid in proportion by the Proprietors of such Lands or Grounds to whose any Allocations shall be made: be it further enacted, That in such Case, when and so often as any such Person or Persons, except the Person or Persons thereby exempted from Payment of any such Charges and Expenses, shall refuse or neglect to pay his, her, or their Proportions of the Charges and Expenses, or shall refuse or neglect to pay the Expenses attending the inclosing and fencing of any such Allocations, as upon the Neglect or Refusal of the Proprietors shall be inclosed and fenced by such Commissioner or Commissioners as hereinafter mentioned, at the respective Days and Times to be appointed for Payment of such Charges and Expenses, it shall be lawful for such Commissioner or Commissioners, by any Warrant or Warrants under his or their Hands and Seals, directed to any Person or Persons whatsoever, to cause the said Costs, Charges, and Expenses, and Sum or Sums of Money respectively, to be levied by Distress and Sale of the Goods and Chattels of the Person or Persons in making Default in Payment as aforesaid, his, her, or their Heirs, Executors, Administrators, Trustees, Committees, or Assigns, whosoever the same shall be found, residing the Overseas (if any) or Demised, to the Owner or Owners of such Goods and Chattels, the reasonable Charges of such Warrant, Distress, and Sale being first deducted, together with the Interest after the Rate of five Pounds per Centum per Annum, to be computed on such Sum or Sums, Proportions or Proportions, from the Time the same shall be directed to be paid by such Commissioner or Commissioners as aforesaid; or otherwise it shall be lawful for such Commissioner or Commissioners, or any Person or Persons authorized by him or them, to enter upon and take Possession of the Premises to be allotted to such Person or Persons refusing or neglecting to pay as aforesaid, and to receive and take the Rents and Profits thereof, until thereby, otherwise, or otherwise, the Sums or Sums, Proportion or Proportions, and the said Costs and Charges be ordered and directed by such Commissioner or Commissioners to be paid by such Person or Persons as aforesaid, and all Interest on such Sum or Sums, Proportion or Proportions, to be computed from the Time the same shall by such Commissioner or Commissioners be directed to be paid as aforesaid, and also all Costs, Charges, and Expenses, considered by or attending such Entry upon and Perception of the Rents and Profits of the said Premises, shall be fully paid and satisfied.

XXX. And be it further enacted, That in such Case as last aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Heirs, Executors, Administrators, Trustees, Committees, or Assigns of any of the Owners or Proprietors of such Allocations or Exchanged Lands, being under Conveyance, Mortgage, Leases, beyond the Seas, or under any other Disability, and for any of the said Owners or Proprietors being Tenants in Tail, or for Life or Lives, or Years determinable on a Life or Lives, or on any other Contingency, or otherwise, interested as aforesaid (except the Rents or Value of such Premises) to charge such Allocations, or Exchanged Lands and Premises, with such Sum or Sums of Money as such Commissioner or Commissioners shall by his or their Award, or by Writing under his or their Hands, either before or after the Execution of such Award, adjudge necessary to pay and defray the said respective Shares of the Charges and Expenses incident to and attending the obtaining such Act, and carrying the same into Execution, and of charging the said Lands as aforesaid, in that the same shall not exceed five Pounds for every Acre of such Allocations or Exchanged Lands; and to grant, mortgage, surrender, lease, or demise, or otherwise subject the Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments to be charged, unto such Person or Persons who shall advance and lend the same respectively, his, her, or their Executors, Administrators, and Assigns, for any Term or Number of Years; or in case any Person in Possession, who shall or may be liable to and charged with a Share of the Expenses as aforesaid, or enabled by this or any such Act to charge such Lands and Grounds with the same, shall choose to advance, pay, and discharge such Sum or Sums of Money, then it shall be lawful for the said Commissioner or Commissioners, by any Deed or Writing under his or their Hands and Seals, to be attested by two or more credible Witnesses, in like Manner to grant, mortgage, surrender, lease, demise, or otherwise subject the said Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments, to such Person or Persons respectively to receive and discharging the same, his, her, or their Executors, Administrators, and Assigns, for any Term or Number of Years, to and for the Payment of such Sum and Sums of Money to advance, paid, and discharged by him or them, with Interest for the same, so much as the Tenements of his, her, or their Right is the Purview; in that every such Grant, Mortgage, Surrender, Lease, or Demise, be made with a Provision or Condition to read and be void, or with an express Trust to be surrendered or re-leased, when such Sum or Sums of Money thereby to be advanced shall be fully paid and satisfied; and also with a Covenant to pay and keep down the Interest, in that no Person or Persons afterwards becoming possessed or entitled to any such Lands, Tenements, or Hereditaments, shall be liable to pay any further or larger Amount of Interest than for six Calendar Months preceding the Time when the Title to such Possession shall have commenced; and that every such Charge, Grant, Mortgage, Surrender, Lease, or Demise, shall be good, valid, and effectual in the Law for the Purposes thereby intended.

XXXI. Malt for Sale should, for every such Offence, forfeit and lose the Sum of two Shillings and Sixpence for every Barrel of Corn keeping or steeped that should be so passed, trodden, ransomed, or covered: And whereas by One other Clause in an Act, made in the Sixth Year of his late Majesty, King George the First, entitled, An Act for preventing Frauds and Abuses in the Publick Revenue of Excise, Customs, Stamp-duty, Post-Office, and Stamp-duty, it was enacted and declared, That if, from and after the Year 1704 Twentieth Day of June One thousand seven hundred and twenty, any Corn in any Cistern or Urn, or steeped, or kept, in order to the making thereof into Malt, by any Malster or Maker of Malt, (other than Compositors for the Duty on Malt), was or should be found to hard, chafe, and compass, as it could not be within the same led by some Meas or other two forced together to prevent the Riving and Swelling thereof, every Malster and Maker of Malt, (other than Compositors for the Duty on Malt,) where the same shall be so found, should, in every such Cafe, forfeit and lose the Sum of two Shillings and Sixpence per Barrel for every Barrel of such Corn keeping or steeped, which should be found to hard, chafe, and compass, as aforesaid: which said several Clauses have been duly continued, and are still in force: And whereas by the last recited Clause no Penalty is provided where Corn steeped, in order to the making thereof into Malt, should be found in the Couch to hard, chafe, and compass, as it could not be within the same led by some Meas or other two forced together to prevent the Riving and Swelling thereof, and the Penalties provided by the said recited Clauses have, by Experience, been found insufficient to prevent the fraudulent Practice of pressing, treading, ransoming, or otherwise forcing together in the Cisterns, Urns, or Couchs, the Corn or Grain steeped or kept, in order to the making thereof into Malt, to the Prejudice of his Majesty's Revenue, and Discouragement of the true Traders: It is therefore enacted and declared by the Authority aforesaid, That, from and after the twenty-third Day of June One thousand eight hundred and two, if any Malster, or Maker of Malt, shall trodden, ransomed, or otherwise force together in the Cisterns, Urns, or Couchs, any Corn or Grain, keeping or steeped in order to the making thereof into Malt, every such Malster or Maker of Malt shall forfeit and lose the Sum of five Shillings for every Barrel of Corn or Grain steeped or kept, that shall be so trodden, ransomed, or forced together: or if any Corn or Grain in any Cistern, Urn, or Couch, is or shall be found to hard, chafe, and compass, as it could not be within the same led by some Meas or other two forced together to prevent the Riving and Swelling thereof, every Malster and Maker of Malt, where the same shall be so found, shall, in every such Cafe, forfeit and lose the Sum of five Shillings for every Barrel of such Corn or Grain, keeping or steeped, which shall be found to hard, chafe, and compass, as aforesaid: and Proof being made thereof, the same shall be deemed conclusive Evidence of the Fact, and shall subject the Malster or Maker of Malt to the aforesaid Penalty of five Shillings per Barrel.

XVII. And whereas many Malsters or Makers of Malt do fraudulently convey away from the Cisterns, Urns, or Couchs, or other Writing-place or Utensil, Steepings, or Part of Steepings, of Corn or Grain, making into Malt, and mix such Corn or Grain, in conveyed away, with and amongst Couches or Floors of other Corn or Grain making into Malt, which are then deposited and in Operation, that have been gauged or charged with the Duty in the Couch: and to ease the Officer has taken his Gauge of the Corn or Grain keeping in the Cisterns, Urns, or Couchs, or other Writing-place or Utensil, such Malsters or Makers of Malt supply the Deficiency with such Barley, or other Corn or Grain, in the Absence and without the Privy of the Officer, in order to prevent a Discovery of such Corn or Grain having been conveyed away: and such Corn or Grain so conveyed away and mixed, by an artful and fraudulent Manner of working, seldom is charged with any Duty on the Floor: which Practice is greatly detrimental to the Revenue and for Traders: For Remedy thereof, it is hereby enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That, from and after the twenty-fourth Day of June One thousand eight hundred and two, if any Malster or Maker of Malt shall fraudulently convey away, or cause or procure, or permit or suffer, to be conveyed away from the Cisterns, Urns, or Couchs, or other Writing-place or Utensil, any Steeping, or Part of any Steeping, of Corn or Grain making into Malt, and shall mix such Corn or Grain so conveyed away with and amongst any such Couch or Couches, Floor or Floors, of other Corn or Grain making into Malt, which are then deposited, and in Operation, and which have been gauged or charged with the Duty in the Couch: or if any Malster or Maker of Malt shall fraudulently convey away, or cause or procure, or permit or suffer, to be conveyed away from the Cisterns, Urns, or Couchs, or other Writing-place or Utensil, any Steeping, or Part of any Steeping, of Corn or Grain making into Malt, so that no Gauge of such Corn or Grain so conveyed away can be taken in the Couch by the Officer: then, and in each of the said Cafes, every such Malster and Maker of Malt in offending shall, for every such Offence, forfeit and lose the Sum of one hundred Pounds.

XVIII. And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That all Fines, Penalties, and Forfeitures, for any Offences against this Act, shall be sued for, levied, and recovered, or assigned, by the same Ways, Means, and Methods, as any Penalty or Forfeiture given by any of the Laws of Excise upon Beer, Ale, and other Liquors, can or may be sued for, levied, recovered, or assigned, or by any Law or Laws of Excise, or by Action of Debt, Bill, Plein, or Information, in any of his Majesty's Courts of Record at Westminster: and that One Mowry of such Fines, Penalties, and Forfeitures, shall be to the Use of his Majesty, his Heirs and Successors, and the other Mowry to him or them that shall discover, inform, or sue for the same.

XIX. Provided always, and it is hereby enacted, That nothing in this Act contained shall extend, or be construed to extend, to charge any Person or Persons with the Duty upon Cylar or Perry, such Person or Persons buying the same for his or their private Use only, and not being a Dealer or Dealers in Cylar or Perry, or a Retailer or Retailers thereof.

XX. And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That every Person or Persons whatsoever who shall, after the twenty-fifth Day of March One thousand eight hundred and two, sell any Quantity of Cylar or Perry, or other of them, in less Quantity than Twenty Gallons at a Time, whether the same be made from Fruit of his, her, or their own Growth, or from bought Fruit, shall be deemed and taken to be a Dealer in Cylar and Perry,
